V. New Business

- a. Financial Reports & In-Kind Donations – Tracy Webster, Chief Financial Officer & Catherine Anspach, Director of Development – Action Item

Tracy Webster outlined the contributions categorized by purpose from January 1st to February 29th. Notably, she highlighted the significant support for Gourmet for Good, which amounted to $23,500 by the end of February. Tracy stated while reviewing the income statement that Gourmet for Good falls under fundraising, while donations to programs are classified as contributions.

Tracy reviewed the annual budget report. She mentioned that the pending CAPK Contribution funding would be accounted for in the next financial report.

Catherine Anspach added to Tracy's presentation by noting that the Food Bank had received $48,815.00 in contributions, with a substantial portion, $40,000, from the Sandberg Goldberg Charitable Foundation. Catherine further explained that a portion of funds designated for Gourmet for Good would be placed into the general fund, available for addressing unforeseen program needs.

With In-kind donations, Tracy clarified the foundation's methods. She mentioned that while the foundation doesn't assign a financial value to In-kind donations, the CAPK programs that received the donation does. The foundation only tracks and acknowledges these donations.

A Motion was made and seconded to approve the Financial Reports & In-Kind Donations. Carried by unanimous vote (Nunneley/Whitmore).

b. CAPK Foundation 2023 Information Returns and Attorney General Report – Tracy Webster, Chief Financial Officer – Info Item

Tracy Webster informed the board that this marks the Foundation's third consecutive year of filing an IRS 990 form, with CAPK partnering with the accounting firm Daniells Phillips Vaughan and Bock for this process. Additionally, Tracy noted the submission of form 199 on the California side. She highlighted key sections of the 990-form, including the first page which presents a comparison between contributions from the previous year to the current one, indicating a growth slightly less than double. Tracy also pointed out page seven, displaying all board members serving during that year, and explained how funds were allocated between program expenses and administrative expenses. Tracy concluded by confirming the filing of these forms, mentioning that one page specifically highlights larger donors and donations.

c. June 2024 Fundraiser Program Allocation– Pritika Ram, Chief Business Development Officer – Info Item

Pritika Ram addressed an item from the January board meeting concerning the allocation of funds from the June fundraiser to CAPK programs. She presented a draft version of the allocation in her memo. Pritika proposed that 25% of the earnings would be allocated to increase the Foundation's general fund, with the second larger allocation going towards the Food Bank based on current funding assessments and need, particularly from the Community Services Block Grant. However, she noted that the allocation for Friendship House might be subject to adjustment depending on their October 2024 fundraiser.

Traco Matthews expressed approval of this breakdown and thanked Pritika for sharing it with the board. Jeremy Tobias asked what would happen if the amount raised exceeded projections. Pritika responded that the allocations are flexible and subject to review, mentioning that the allocation for East Kern Family Resource Center in Mojave might be adjusted, especially considering their recent success in securing additional funding.

Ariana Joven asked about some of the current funding sources for East Kern. Pritika explained that they are currently collaborating with Kern Health Systems, utilizing CalAims funds to provide patient intervention for clients facing homelessness. Catherine Anspach added that the East Kern facility has experienced significant growth, attracting corporate donors interested in supporting resources in the Mojave area.

d. Gourmet for Good Update– Catherine Anspach, Director of Development – Info Item

Catherine Anspach expressed her excitement about working on this event, noting that since her last update, she has managed to secure additional sponsorships, bringing the current total to $131,000. She provided a breakdown of the different sponsors and the amounts they donated. Catherine mentioned that due to many sponsorships including tickets to the event, about 40 individual tickets remained available. She decided against publicizing ticket sales due to the limited capacity of the venue, stating she will explore larger venues for next year.

Michael Bowers expressed his appreciation for Kern Health Systems as the presenting sponsor and thanked board member Traco Matthews. He asked about the availability of tables, to which Catherine responded that there were still a few tickets left, with the possibility of some sponsors returning their tables. She introduced a $2,000 sponsorship package including four tickets and event recognition.

Jeremy Tobias suggested strategically inviting bigger donors that are unfamiliar with CAPK to educate them about the organization's programs and services.

Catherine passed out the Gourmet for Good agenda for the board to review, covering logistics such as parking, menu, drinks, sponsors, and layout. She mentioned the event would feature a mission moment to resonate with attendees.

Michael asked about the number of raffle items donated. Catherine explained that due to time constraints, the decision was made not to have an auction. Instead, there would be an opportunity ticket, that would include the items that Michael got donated. Catherine clarified that guests could purchase multiple opportunity tickets, receiving a glow bracelet for each purchased. Michael suggested giving away a dinner tasting at Luigi's, and Catherine asked if he could arrange the donation, to which he agreed.

Catherine revealed that the food for the event would be from Moo Creamery, including an Arugula Manchego salad and a grilled filet with Chimichurri sauce, garlic shrimp, and Orzo pasta salad. Michael noted that the Johnson estate could be challenging to find, and Catherine assured the board that signs would be posted on the highway to direct guests.

Denise Boshers asked about the availability of golf carts for guests, to which Catherine explained that valet services would be provided at the event entrance.

Ariana Joven raised concerns about potential valet congestion, but Pritika Ram assured that parking would be in the large overflow lot.

Michael emphasized the value of the Cabo trip as a raffle item, even if guests had to cover travel expenses. Catherine questioned if guests would still be interested, considering the additional cost, and Michael said he believed they would, given the trip's value.

Lastly, Ariana thanked the foundation for their hard work and encouraged all board members to support the event.

e. Aera Easter Visits – Catherine Anspach, Director of Development – Verbal Item

Catherine Anspach also mentioned that Aera Energy recently visited the Headstart and Early Headstart programs in Shafter and Taft with the Easter Bunny. During the visit, the Bunny distributed small backpacks filled with goodies to the children. Catherine noted that she would be sending out the video capturing this event. Additionally, she highlighted the efforts of the CAPK Outreach team, which has been creating videos to express appreciation and acknowledge sponsors.

f. Huggy Heart Campaign with Valley Strong – Catherine Anspach, Director of Development – Verbal Item

Catherine Anspach shared that Valley Strong will be doing the Huggy Heart Campaign again in June, with the youth centers being the beneficiaries of this donation. She mentioned that this donation helps fund field trips for the youth centers.

Traco Matthews asked which youth centers would receive the donation. Chei Whitmore responded that it would go towards the Friendship House and the Shafter Youth Center. Traco suggested that Kern Health Systems might be interested in doing a similar campaign. Catherine mentioned that she already has collateral prepared for this campaign so organizations can choose the area of focus they'd like to support.

Tracy Webster added that the Foundation also has a campaign available for organizations to conduct a virtual food drive internally. Catherine explained that organizations can create a page where employees can donate towards bulk purchasing, allowing the community to fundraise for the Foundation.

Catherine added that she might showcase some of the new videos created by the Outreach team at the next board meeting.

VII. Board Member Comments

Chei Whitmore informed the board that Valley Strong is conducting financial literacy classes every Tuesday. She mentioned that the classes were in such high demand that an additional session on Thursdays was added to accommodate individuals at the M Street Navigation Center who wished to attend.
