

Christmas is just around the corner and we want to wish everyone a safe, happy and fulfilling holiday next week.

This week in CAPK in Action we connect with our Home Visiting Program and learn about the impact our staff make in the lives of families with young children. We'll also introduce the new CAPK Calendar and share a story about generational giving at the CAPK Food Bank.

May the spirit of the holidays be with you now and in the New Year.

Home Visiting Program Bringing Learning Home

CAPK is excited to share the story of our Cal-Works Home Visiting Program staff and families. Our staff touch the lives of young families at their most important learning environment - their home. Click on the button below to hear from our parents and our "visitors" about the importance of this service to our families and the transformation this in-home education program can make.

Parents are a child's first teacher and the Home Visiting Program is all about helping them become great ones.

Giving from the Heart

Donation to the CAPK Food Bank

Rick and Neetu Jhaj have an amazing tradition. Every year, on each of their daughters Raiya and Rehna's birthdays, they make a donation to a Kern County non-profit agency and take their daughters to visit the organization. The visits help the girls understand the impact their gift is having on their community. On December 10 the family visited CAPK Food Bank and got a tour from Food Bank Program Manager Jaime Orona.

They learned what's in food boxes that go out to people in need and made a gift to help feed families. Thank you to the Jhaj family for the donation and for spreading kindness to the next generation.

Calendar Reborn

Connect to CAPK in Action

We have a new resource for people to connect with all the things that are going on at Community Action Partnership of Kern. The CAPK Calendar can be found by clicking on the button below or by going to capk.org and clicking on the Get Involved tab. CAPK employees can contact their manager to have items placed on the calendar.

Stay warm and save energy

CAPK and Energy Upgrade California

Community Action Partnership of Kern is working with Energy Upgrade California to get energy education out to the general public. One great way to use more clean energy this winter season is by having a meeting with those in your household! Discuss the ways that work best for you to power down from 4-9pm throughout the winter and work together to take those actions. Using more clean energy will make for a great winter season!
