

Community Action Partnership wants to wish you a happy, prosperous, healthy and bright New Year. Enjoy a message from CAPK CEO Jeremy T. Tobias below and find out some of the fun adventures our programs had this holiday season.

This year has been filled with challenges and has seen a dramatic increase in our community's need for assistance. Community Action Partnership of Kern has met that need with the help of donors, business leaders, supporters and partners in the government and non-profit worlds. Christmas at M Street

Even the puppies got some special holiday love at the M Street Navigation Center Christmas Party last week. A big team helped bring some serious Christmas cheer to M Street residents at a special lunch funded by LeBeau Thelen attorneys and Gazelle Transportation. KGET-TV News Anchor Jim Scott, wife Robin Mangarin Scott and son Riley Scott all helped serve meals alongside volunteers from CityServe and Kern County. Residents - and canine companions - raved about the ham, mac and cheese and greens from Nov's Soul Spot.

Warming the Heart

Coat donation helps Head Start

It was a chilly, drizzly morning when students at the Fairfax Head Start center got their cozy Christmas presents from Chevron, Area Energy and the office of Assemblyman Rudy Salas this month. The businesses and Salas' office teamed up for their annual coat donation again in 2020 and there were a lot of smiling children and parents as the students slipped their arms into the warm jackets and pulled up the hoods. Students at CAPK Head Start centers across Kern County received coats through the donation. Thank you to everyone involved for making the season merry, bright and warm for these children of essential workers.
